Mark Your Calendars!

SAVE THE DATE!
Fall for Literacy - Interactive, Virtual Conference

Brain Basis for Reading Ability and Disability: Word Study

Saturday, Oct. 17, 2020
8:30 a.m. - 4 p.m. via Zoom

Keynote Speaker:
Joanna Christodoulou, EdD

Registration opens on Aug. 1 and closes Oct. 12.

The 2020 Fall for Literacy theme, Brain Basis for Reading Ability and Disability: Word Study, is geared toward K-5 educators and specialists who work with literacy development. It is open to staff in all Charlevoix-Emmet ISD districts. Breakout sessions will be offered following the keynote address; further details will be provided when registration opens on Aug. 1, 2020.

There is no cost for Char-Em ISD member districts; $50 per person for outside attendees.

Keynote Presenter
Joanna Christodoulou, EdD, is a developmental cognitive neuroscientist who studies the development and difficulties of reading, math, and attention at the intersection of research and practice. She is associate professor at the MGH Institute of Health Professions in Boston, MA, as well as a research associate at MIT and adjunct lecturer at the Harvard Graduate School of Education.

SCECHs available, pending approval

Registration link will be emailed Aug. 1!

For more details, contact Amy McMullen at mcmullen.ar.m@petoskeyschools.org

The Public Schools of Petoskey and Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District are pleased to present this conference in partnership with the International Dyslexia Association - Michigan branch.

For more information on our Branch or how to become a member, go to our website: https://mi.dyslexiaida.org/
STAY CONNECTED: